Swaminathan Kannan

has successfully achieved the

Uplimit Building AI Products with OpenAI Certification

Recipients of Uplimit's Building AI Products with OpenAI certificate have built AI products such as a service that took in their favorite podcast and produced a newsletter with a summary of an episode. They also learned strategies for training LLMs as well as overcoming LLM challenges like context window limitations.

Certification criteria:

- Actively participated in Uplimit's dynamic course on Building AI Products with OpenAI: attended lectures, project sessions, fireside chat with industry experts, engaged in dynamic peer review sessions, and more.

- Built a shareable service that takes in a list of their favorite podcasts and seamlessly produces a highlighted newsletter.

- Learned about approaches to prompt design and built intuition for where they can be applied. They also learned about the OpenAI ecosystem of models - chat vs. platform, curie vs. davinci, and embedding vs. fine-tuning, so that they could apply it to their personal and professional projects.
